
This page is not Valid XHTML 1.0 Transitional!

Posted by miloskorac - 2007/11/07 05:03

This page is not Valid XHTML 1.0 Transitional!

This is what I get when using a Hot Module of Andre Klinkhamer.

there are 33 errors if I clean the "&" inside of that module.

Whys that? Why would somebody made a modules with errors? Is it just because this is open source? Is that means that people can publish some crippled modules expect that somebody else is going to clean up the mess? Author URL in that module is out of the service www.kroatie-vakanties.com

I can see that it is published at 03.03.2006, and you are publishing it as HOT (??), and updated at 07.01.2007. Can you declare how did you updated that module?

As you are publishing this flip book effect as advertisement in the corner, don't you think that would be wise to fix error on www.mistestate.com on the line 970, char 18, which IE presents as syntax error, code 0? I mean that's your home page, or not?

Milos Korac

(full of funny questions as always):sick:

=====

Re: This page is not Valid XHTML 1.0 Transitional!

Posted by admin - 2007/11/14 02:04

Hi there, may I ask you something? What did you do to support the (further) development of this project?

I know, it's much easier to query some errors and faults than contribute something productive like Andre Klinkhammer did.

Nobody said, it's perfect! You're welcome to fix it instead of insult his work!

=====